OFFICIAL OPENING OF

THREE SPRINGS EARLY CHILDHOOD LEARNING CENTRE

Friday 21st August saw the official opening of the Three Springs Early Childhood Learning Centre by Hon Melissa Price, MP. The building opened in late January 2020, but the opening was delayed due to COVID.

Hon Darren West, MLC and Hon Shane Love, MLA were also in attendance, along with Gavin

Treasure, MWDC, architect Craig Poletti from EPS Architects and past and present Shire of Three Spring Councillors.

The building was funded by the Federal Government's Building Better Regions

Fund, Mid West Development Commission, Lotterywest and the Shire of Three Springs.

The ECLC is home to a 19 place daycare facility, along with consulting rooms and toy library space.

It is planned to open the Centre up for public viewing one morning in the near future.

TRIPLE M WA'S GO FURTHER TOUR VISITS THREE SPRINGS

Last week (24-27 August) saw Triple M's WA Drive Show being broadcast from around WA's Wildflower Country, encouraging the people of WA to get out and go further in WA, exploring their own back yard. Tuesday saw the show being broadcast from the Shire of Three Springs Council Chambers, with a combination of live and pre-recorded interviews.

Shire CDO Sharon talked to Cliff about the upcoming WAORRA event held annually in Three Springs on the September long weekend, the favourite track for the racing fraternity, with the best spectator viewing, as well as Astrotourism.

Local farmer, Three Springs Bombers Football Club President and Shire Councillor Jim Heal spoke about the advances in technology in farming, as well as belonging to sporting groups in small communities.

Thank you Triple M for visiting our town, and telling the rest of the state about what a fantastic place it is.

Police News

I'm pleased to announce we have not received any reports of criminal activity during the reporting period. This is again a positive reflection of the work and strong partnerships we have developed within the town and the community at large. We all want to maintain this peaceful existence we enjoy here in Three Springs so please continue to secure your valuables and report suspicious behaviour.

You may have noted the recent influx of tourists coming in and visiting our wonderful town to get a look at our wild flowers in full bloom. This gives us a tremendous opportunity to showcase our town and also allow the injection of some valuable tourism dollars to boost our local economy. I see this as a win-win for all involved but please be mindful and patient with so many more people on the roads, some of which aren't as experienced on regional roads as you may be.

On this subject Three Springs Police recently received a new police traffic vehicle equipped with the latest road traffic technologies. The vehicle will complement our road safety initiatives ensuring that all road users can get where they need to and home safely.

On a sad note the Mighty Three Springs Bombers Football Club bowed out of the North Midlands finals last weekend going down to Morawa. The good news is that both the A and B grade netballers are still competing for premiership success. The Winter Sport Grand finals will be held in Three Springs on Saturday the 12th of September so please show your support and come along and cheer the girls on to success.

ASTROTOURISM RETURNS TO THREE SPRINGS

Last Thursday saw over 30 people attend the first Astrotourism event held in WA since COVID-19 started. Galaxy Girl Carol Redford gave a presentation on why WA has the best night skies in the world, as well as handing out planispheres to the children and showing them how to use them.

A member of the StarGazers Club WA gave a pointer tour of the night sky, as well as talking about how different constellations got their names. There were fantastic views of Jupiter and Saturn, as well as Scorpio and the Southern Cross. Satellites could be seen with the naked eye, and there was even a fireball (shooting star or meteorite) which was reported by Galaxy Girl to UWA. Members of the public got to view the sky through 4 massive telescopes.

Shops caught selling dangerous Turkish-style lamps

With their ornate design and intricate mosaic patterns, it's hardly surprising that Turkish-style lamps are a popular decorative feature in many Western Australian homes.

But just because they are beautiful, it's important to remember that lamps are an electrical item that can pose a serious safety risk if they haven't been approved for sale in Australia.

Our colleagues at Building and Energy – WA's energy safety regulator – recently issued infringement notices of $5,000 each to two retailers after a site inspection revealed some Turkish-style lamps in the stores lacked the required electrical safety certification labels.

Some of the non-compliant lamps had dangerous defects including damaged wiring inside the curved metal tube and no earth pin, which is compulsory for electrical items cased inside metal.

Faulty electrical items can cause shocks or fires, so for this reason all electrical appliances sold or hired in Australia are required to be independently assessed as having a safe design that complies with Australian electrical standards.

It doesn't take long to check whether an item is certified – look for an approval number or a regulatory compliance mark (a tick in a triangle) on all household appliances and their plugs.

Certification can also be confirmed by searching for the model number on the Electrical Equipment Safety System website at eess.gov.au

We all expect the electrical appliances we use to be safe, so it is vital that everyone plays their part to ensure that unregulated household electrical equipment is not sold or used in Australia. This applies when shopping in-store as well as when ordering items online.

If you spot electrical equipment being sold without safety labels, please report it to Building and Energy for further investigation on 1300 489 099 or be.info@dmirs.wa.gov.au

Building and Energy's guide to importing, selling or hiring electrical appliances and equipment is available at dmirs.wa.gov.au

Students should exercise caution over VET courses

Job losses have been an unfortunate consequence of the COVID-19 coronavirus pandemic, but with things now looking brighter, some Western Australians are taking steps to upgrade their skills or learn a new trade altogether.

Committing to study and signing up to student debt are big decisions, especially in these uncertain times, therefore we are urging prospective students to only use a nationally recognised and accredited private college or TAFE.

On 26 May 2020, the Federal Government announced its Job Maker plan, which aims to reform the vocational education training (VET) sector to provide Australians with more opportunities to find work.

While this is welcome news, it's important that lessons are learned from the issues encountered with the earlier VET FEE-HELP loan system, under which the government covered upfront costs for students going into vocational training.

Alleged inappropriate behaviour by some providers saw many students left with large debts after being signed-up to courses over the phone, door-to-door and at shopping centres.

Some were unaware that they were going to incur a student loan for thousands of dollars, as they were told the courses were free or they did not have to pay for the course.

Many of these people later found out that they had signed up for a course they did not want to do or were unable to complete, which left them with a huge student loan debt.

Registering for study should be a hassle free experience, so be wary of door-to-door sales people trying to pressure you into signing up for a course. If you do not wish to deal with uninvited door-to-door sellers, you should display a Do Not Knock sticker on your front door or near the doorbell.

There are hundreds of training providers around the country who offer courses online, on campus or as a mixture of both. A search for registered training providers can be carried out on the Federal Government's My Skills website - www.myskills.gov.au.

WA consumers who want to check if they have student debt should visit their MyGov account. To apply for VET student loans, or to make an enquiry or complaint, visit the Commonwealth Ombudsman website - www.ombudsman.gov.au.

MEDIA RELEASE

21 August 2020

Nationals WA vow to increase value of pensioner fuel card

Moore MP, Shane Love MLA says the Country Age Pension Fuel Card will be boosted if The Nationals WA form government next year.

Mr Love said card values would be lifted from $575 to $600 from next July and then re-linked to the Consumer Price Index (CPI) each year thereafter.

"There are nearly 4,000 cardholders in Moore who will benefit from this overdue lift in card values," he said.

"With extra value the cardholders can get out with more confidence – and considering the months of COVID-19 restrictions it is important our pensioners re-engage with their communities.

"The Country Age Pension Fuel Card is a flagship Nationals WA policy introduced in 2009 that has provided great support for regional pensioners to be more active and connected with friends, loved ones and their community.

"It also goes some way to acknowledge that regional pensioners do not have access to free or heavily subsidised public transport as those living in the metropolitan area do."

Recent analysis of fuel prices carried out by The Nationals WA showed motorists in regional areas continue to pay more on average at the bowser than those in Perth and many have limited or no access to public transport.

Speaking also as The Nationals WA Deputy Leader and community services spokesperson Mr Love said $20 million of Royalties for Regions funding would be used to boost the Country Age Pension Fuel Card.

"Our commitment recognises that regional pensioners continue to go without access to subsidised or free public transport enjoyed in metropolitan areas and brings card values up to a contemporary level," he added.

"We will also replace the issue of annual cards with a permanent card, saving an estimated $2.3 million in production and distribution costs, as well as allowing for the immediate recharge of card values each new financial year.

"Our policy will help more than 55,000 card holders get out and about in their communities more – which after months of COVID-19 restrictions is more important than ever."

Your State Member for Moore

DEAR MOORE RESIDENTS...

COVID-19 has certainly made for an unusual start to the year. The pandemic brought a level of disruption that we could not have predicted. Many events, shows and field days have been cancelled this year – all opportunities when I would ordinarily meet many of you. In the absence of these events, please don't hesitate to contact me for assistance with any government-related matters. You will find my office contact details below.

As your Member for Moore, I bring a breadth of experience in community service, small business and agriculture and have lived and worked in regional WA most of my life. I attended high school in Albany and completed a Bachelor of Commerce from the University of Western Australia. I was a local government councillor for more than 12 years, including Shire President of Dandaragan from 2004 until 2013.

I have served in a range of regional and local organisations, including as a director of the Northern Agricultural Catchments Council, as a board member of the Wheatbelt Development Commission, a member of the Wheatbelt Regional Advisory Planning Committee, the West Midlands Natural Resource Group, the Central Coastal Business Enterprise Centre Board and even the Badgingarra School Council.

I was elected as The Member for Moore in 2013. In 2014, I was appointed Parliamentary Secretary to Minister for Regional Development and Lands and held that position until the change of government in 2017. In Parliament I have served on the Economics and Industry Standing Committee and the Education and Health Standing Committee.

I am also currently serving on the Joint Select Committee on Palliative Care. I was an Acting Speaker of the Legislative Assembly from May 2017 to March 2020 and the Nationals WA Whip from March 2017 to March 2020.

In March 2020 I was elected Deputy Leader of the Nationals.

RESTORING ROYALTIES FOR REGIONS

The Royalties for Regions program was brought to government by The Nationals WA in 2008. Under our stewardship, $7 billion invested in 3,600 programs and projects changed the face of regional WA. These were funds generated in regional WA that were specifically set aside for regional communities under the Royalties for Regions Act.

Since 2017 the McGowan Labor government has diverted Royalties for Regions funds to other areas and underspent what was left. The latest quarterly financial report tabled by the McGowan Labor government shows there is a $200 million underspend in Royalties for Regions this year. These unspent RfR funds will flow into consolidated revenue and be banked as part of the overall public bank account.

Regional WA has been robbed of hundreds of millions of dollars – money that is now likely to be ploughed back into Perth projects such as Metronet. Over the next four years another $1.6 billion is forecast to be lost to regional WA. RfR is now just a shell of the original program in place under the Nationals in government, with funds diverted to pay for orange school bus services, remote power and water services, regional education assistants and underwrite TAFE courses.

The Nationals WA want to restore Royalties for Regions to its full potential with a fair share of the State's royalties going back to make our towns and cities better places to live, work and raise a family.

RESTORING ROYALTIES FOR REGIONS - That's The Nationals WA commitment to regional WA – and to you.

I want to hear from you about the issues that are important to you. Please contact me

Three Springs Bombers

Unfortunately, last Saturday the Mighty Three Springs Bombers went down to a determined Morawa Tigers meaning that we are now out of finals contention and our season has come to an end.

Our players battled through the interrupted season overcoming a number of obstacles including an unbelievably bad run of injuries. These injuries meant that we often played with less players than our opposing teams but always with a positive spirit and to the best of our abilities.

We identified Wrey Haimona and Lewellyn Sampi at 14 and 13 years of age who showed they were both more than capable of playing senior football against fully grown men. Along with Jacob WHITT and their tremendous attitudes they present a positive future for the Bombers.

We also had a number of players return to the club and others not only new to the club but also new to the game of Australian Rules Football. This ensured there was never a dull moment at training as we explained the intricacies of the game. They added life and enthusiasm to the club and one of them even developed his own fan club.

To the playing stalwarts who rock up year after year as the hamstrings grow tighter and tighter, I thank you. Your support and leadership ensure the younger player group has people to look up to and guide them through their development and you gave me someone to bounce ideas off.

It was a tumultuous year with many challenges and I would have loved nothing more than to win a premiership but I know they do not come easy. The interruption of Covid-19 ensured it was a season like no other and I am extremely grateful for the Three Springs Bombers Committee who so strongly lobbied the NMFL for the continuation of the 2020 season.

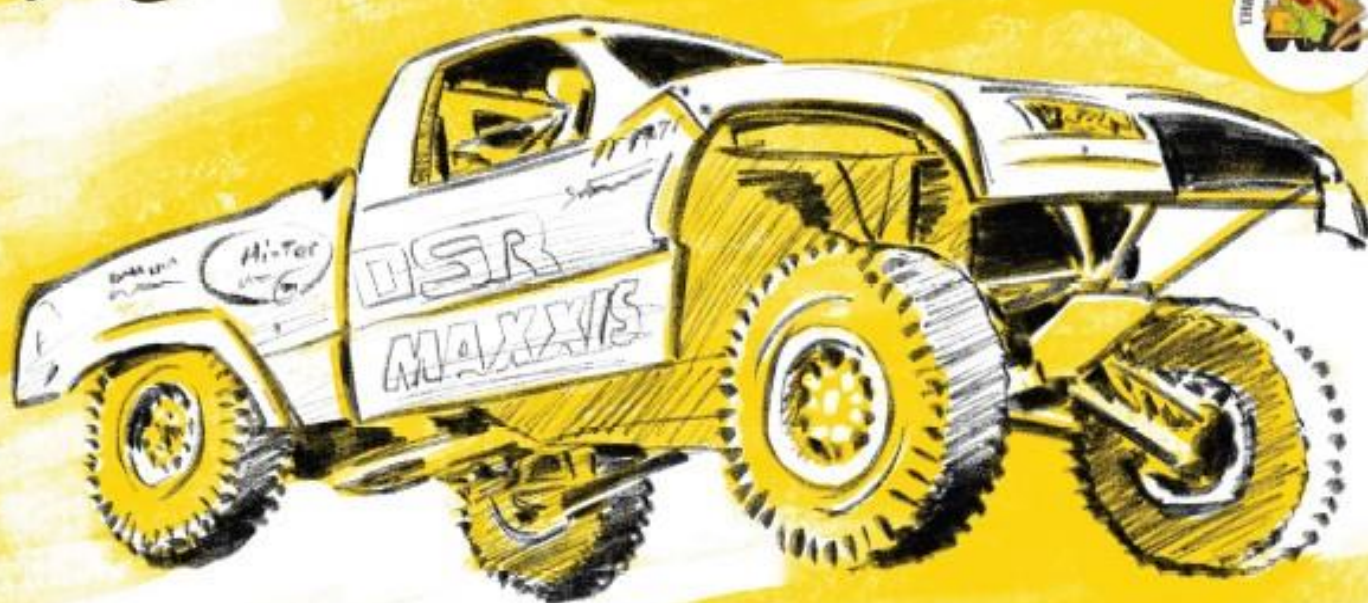

I'm also grateful for the support we have received from the Three Springs community who came out in record numbers to our games and supported our functions. Please continue to support the club and come out in numbers to the Winter Sports Grand Final being hosted by us in Three Springs on Saturday the 12th of September. The netball girls remain in contention and every chance they will add more premierships to their already bursting trophy cabinet

On a final and very positive note I congratulate one of our team leaders in Liam Mutter and his lovely wife Tayla on the arrival of 7lb 12 oz Claire Rose Mutter born on Saturday the 29th of August 2020.
