REMEMBRANCE DAY 2023

The Three Springs Remembrance Day 2023, hosted at Jack Thorpe Garden, united the community on the solemn occasion of the 11th hour on the 11th day of the 11th month. Organized by Three Springs RSL. During the ceremony, Shaye Stone, a student from Three Springs Primary School, delivered a heartfelt poem dedicated to the war heroes.. The community gathered in unity to observe a moment of silence, reflecting on the profound impact of war.

The Shire of Three Springs received the Saluting Their Service grant from Department of Veteran Affairs. This grant facilitated the production of banner images portraying the war heroes, which were displayed during the Remembrance Day ceremony. The Shire expresses gratitude to the Department of Veterans Affairs for providing the funds that made this tribute possible. Additionally, the Shire acknowledges the Carnamah Historic Society for generously providing images of the war heroes. Special thanks are extended to the Australian War Memorial, UNSW Canberra at the Australian Defence Force Academy, and the National Archives of Australia for the valuable information available for each soldier featured on the banners.

As part of the commemoration, everyone is encouraged to take a stroll down the main street and scan the QR code available on each banner. These codes lead to the Carnamah Historic Society webpage, where detailed information about the soldiers is provided, allowing the community to learn more about the individuals who bravely served their nation. This initiative aims to foster a deeper connection between the present and the past, ensuring that the sacrifices of these heroes are not forgotten.

THREE SPRINGS TRIUMPHS AS TIDY TOWN AWARDS FINALIST 2023

In Three Springs, we're buzzing with pride as not one but two of our projects earn finalist spots in the Tidy Town Awards 2023.

1. Keeping Three Springs Clean - Litter Prevention Finalist:

The "Keeping Three Springs Clean Program" was aimed to enhance the overall appearance of the town by addressing the issue of litter. The project had several key objectives, including collecting litter from local streets, raising awareness among community members and visitors about the impacts of littering, promoting community engagement in combating litter, inspiring the next generation to take action against litter, and educating both the community and students about proper waste disposal practices.

2. Classroom Recycling Challenge - Community Containers for Change Finalist:

The Classroom Recycling Challenge at Three Springs Primary School engaged young legends in impactful environmental and humanitarian action. This initiative aimed to magnify recycling's influence within the school community while addressing energy poverty through SolarBuddy support. By integrating recycling, empathy, and collective effort, the project showcased the potential of small actions.

In accordance with section 5.25 of the Local Government Act 1995 and regulation 12 of the Local Government (Administration) Regulations 1996 Council wishes to advise that the Ordinary Council meetings for 2024 are as follows:

Knock Knock – who’s there? Be spam aware!

Unsolicited sellers come in all shapes and sizes, trying to grab your attention to buy or sign up for their products or services.

Traditionally, salespeople knock on your door to deliver a sales pitch in-person and Consumer Protection has regulations that control when they can visit you. Should you make an agreement with a door-to-door seller, they must provide a copy of the signed contract and disclose your ‘cooling off’ or termination rights. Under the Australian Consumer Law, you have 10 business days to reconsider an agreement and cancel it without penalty.

The more common and frustrating sales tactics now involve bombarding your phone with unwanted text messages, crowding your inbox with spam emails or ringing you to promote telemarketing businesses.

Spam emails and text messages are regulated by the Australian Communications and Media Authority, (ACMA). There are strict rules around how businesses, wanting to sell you something, can contact you, with ACMA dealing with breaches and taking complaints from consumers about spam, very seriously.

Big businesses, such as Kmart, rideshare and food delivery company Uber Australia, and Ticketek, have been fined a combined total of more than $2 million this year for breaching Australia’s spam laws. ACMA’s investigations found that Uber sent more than two million marketing emails without offering an unsubscribe facility, Ticketek sent almost 100,000 texts and emails either without recipients’ consent or to people who had previously unsubscribed, and Kmart sent more than 200,000 marketing emails in breach of spam laws.

It’s important to remember that commercial marketers must have your permission to send you a marketing message. They must include their contact details in the message and offer you a way to unsubscribe or ‘stop’ receiving their messages. You can also take matters into your own hands by using your email ‘junk’ filters or your phone settings to block marketing messages. If you feel that a company has not processed your unsubscribe request, you can also report this to ACMA.

If you want to lodge a formal complaint about unwanted communications or spam, ACMA can help at www.acma.gov.au, or if you believe a trader has breached the rules on unsolicited sales agreements, contact Consumer Protection on 1300 30 40 54 or email consumer@dmirs.wa.gov.au.

Know your rechargeable battery risks

If you have a mobile phone, laptop, electric toothbrush, e-scooter, e-bike, any power tools, or solar power backup storage, you need to know how to reduce potentially deadly fire risks lurking in their batteries.

These common household items use rechargeable lithium-ion batteries which can be highly flammable. If these batteries are used incorrectly, or are damaged, they can overheat, explode and cause fires that can be dangerous and difficult to extinguish.

House fires, burns, chemical exposure, smoke inhalation and property damage have all been reported in connection with lithium-ion battery charging. The Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (ACCC) saw a 92% increase in reported lithium-ion battery-related incidents in 2022 compared to 2020.

But you can take simple steps to reduce the risks, such as only using the charger recommended for the battery, unplugging products when they're fully charged, and charging batteries in a cool and dry place out of direct sunlight and away from combustible materials like beds, lounges or carpets.

If your batteries overheat, appear to be swelling, or leak or vent gas, stop using them immediately, and never use damaged charging cables.

Disposal of these batteries also poses problems because the batteries can catch fire if they're crushed, or exposed to heat or moisture in rubbish trucks, household rubbish, or waste facilities. Recycle Right at recycleright.wa.gov.au can help you find your closest drop-off point to dispose of lithium-ion batteries safely.

Lithium-ion batteries play a vital role in helping to achieve Australia's transition to net zero emissions. But the safety of those using these batteries is paramount. The ACCC is recommending national regulations around testing, labelling and storage of these batteries to better protect consumers.

In the meantime, you can increase your safety by following Product Safety Australia's easy and practical guide to understanding and managing the risks of lithium-ion battery fires at productsafety.gov.au

REMOTE AIRSTRIP UPGRADE PROGRAM NOW OPEN

8 November 2023

Federal Member for Durack, Melissa Price MP, urges Durack remote communities to apply for funding to upgrade their local airstrip through Round 10 of the Remote Airstrip Upgrade Program. This program provides grants to enhance the safety and accessibility of aerodromes in remote and very remote areas of Australia.

“Upgrades to airstrip lighting, tarmacs and other relevant infrastructure are important for providing safe landing and departure for aircraft. Air service facilities are essential to many remote Durack communities for maintaining access to supplies like food and mail, life-saving medical care, education and employment opportunities.” Ms Price said. “This funding program recognises the challenges remote communities face in accessing the services they need, particularly during the wet season.”

The Remote Airstrip Upgrade Program will provide year-round all-weather access in remote places, particularly where road access is unavailable or unreliable.

This will:

- improve the safety of aircraft, operators and passengers using remote and very remote airstrips.
- facilitate improved delivery of essential goods and services such as food supplies, health care, community mail and passenger air services.
- complement air services delivery to communities subsidised under the Australian Government’s Remote Aviation Access Program through the Remote Air Services Subsidy Scheme.
- meet operational requirements of the RFDS or operators providing similar aeromedical services.

Applications can be lodged by owners/operators of remote airstrips including community groups, Indigenous organisations and local governments.

To apply, visit www.business.gov.au/raup

Ends.

Affordable and Practical Farm Safety

Are you aware there is another very affordable and practical farm safety option on the market? We are visiting a few other farmers in your region and wanted to let you know about the services we offer; in case you haven't heard about us. We are the fastest-growing safety business for many great reasons. Affordability, practicality and a 'friend in the know' to call if an incident occurs are just a few.

We were recently announced State Finalists in the 2023 Telstra Best of Business Awards, beating over 20,000 businesses Australia-wide, so we know we are on the right track. We honestly believe that if safety is not affordable, practical, and quick to implement, it just won't happen. The feedback we are receiving is that our approach is very practical and supportive. We won't ask you to throw away any old equipment, just consider it comes with a separate set of instructions for those that use it.

After a 25-year policing career (but starting off as a farm hand when I first left school) I am committed to keeping people safe in my business called Regional Safety Services. As you can appreciate, I have seen all aspects of farming tragedies, and the new Industrial Manslaughter Legislation is not something to be taken for granted. Even if you do not hire staff, you can still find yourself subject to this legislation if something happens and you do not have the required safety systems or records in place.

Most farmers are doing the right thing to keep their team safe but lack the evidence to prove it. This is where we can help you! Unlike our competitors, we come to you and conduct a two-hour on-site safety appraisal for only $880.00. We will arm you with lots of tips and knowledge, prepare the documentation for you with a clear overview of your position and actions to take. You will not be left guessing what you need to do.

To make life easier we have introduced our own online safety forms to help capture your current effort in this area. We have spent over two years developing our Plant and Machinery Risk Assessment forms, which include Harvester, Seeding, and other farm machines. These forms are only $99.00 to access them for 12 months. These forms have been recommended by farmers like you and most can be done in 1-2 minutes. They can be done on your mobile device, and we provide QR codes for quick and direct access.

If you undertake a service like ours, it would be virtually impossible for someone to say you were grossly negligent, as you are doing something proactive and demonstrating an open commitment to safety. Too many farmers are saying they will plead ignorant if something happens. In light of the recent WorkSafe review of the agricultural industry, there is a massive target on the back of farmers and as such I urge you to help raise the bar of safety in your industry. The WorkSafe review into the agriculture industry is now complete and I look forward to helping my clients get on the front foot with the changes soon to be implemented.

If you have any further questions, I am available on my mobile or feel free to make contact via email and I can send you more details about what we will do when we attend your farm to conduct an appraisal. We also service many other businesses, not just farms.
